Canada College of Education

Leader in Teaching of Excellence...

Nearly all international students wanting to enter Canadian/American colleges or universities must take the Test of English as a Foreign Language (TOEFL).

The TOEFL examines students in four areas of English: grammar, listening, reading and writing.

The TOEFL class at CCE offers a unique, comprehensive and effective approach by focusing on the techniques and skills you need to succeed in the exam. Our program also makes use of official TOEFL materials.

This class will show you how to improve your score quickly, so you will be prepared to attend the desired universities and graduate schools.

In the TOEFL preparation program at CCE, you will receive 70 hours of English instruction: Monday to Friday, in day time sessions from 10:00am-12:00pm, or evening sessions from 6:30pm-8:30pm. Schedule could also be decided by the students votes.

- Classes focus on strategies you need to excel.
- Teacher and computer instruction.
- 3 Practice tests.

Better English and better TOEFL score!

Our program is like no other! You will begin with a diagnostic test. The results of which will reveal your weaknesses and, thus, the areas upon which you need to improve. Then, using this information, we will design the perfect educational program for you.

Using this program, you will see dramatic improvements in listening, reading, grammatical structure and writing. You can access our database, containing over 7000 questions, to help you acquire the requisite knowledge to succeed and to fully prepare you for the test!

Who is the TOEFL Preparation Course for?

The TOEFL Preparation Course at CCE offers a program for academically qualified applicants who wish or need to meet university English language requirements. The course is taught by highly qualified and experienced instructors.

Who teaches the TOEFL Preparation Courses?

The teaching staff includes full and part time instructors who hold degrees in TESOL/ESOL or who have a bachelor degree along with many years of teaching experience.

Course Description

The TOEFL Course is designed to help students improve audio and reading comprehension, structure and written expression. This course offers tips and strategies and is intended to help students hone the skills tested on the TOEFL Computer-Based Test. The TOEFL Preparation Course also includes computer lab time offering both tutorial assistance and practice the format and style of the TOEFL Computer Base-Test. In addition, TOEFL students are encouraged to register for our free lab sessions.

Who is qualified?

The program is designed primarily for students whose present TOEFL score ranges between 400-500 (97-173). Prior to the first week of class, a practice TOEFL exam will be taken by the applicants. If the student achieves a score below 400, he or she will have the option to attend our free English classes until the student's level of English proficiency is equal to that of 400 or better (provided that the student is registered at our full-time ESL program). The student may periodically take practice TOEFL exams while in the English program to monitor progress.

TOEFL Scores

Some students think it is very difficult to achieve a TOEFL score that is high enough for admission to a good university or college. Actually, any good student can achieve an acceptable TOEFL score, with the help of a good preparatory course such as one offered by Canada College of Education.

Ask for a free practice test!

You may drop by our office and ask for a TOEFL practice test to be administered at our center. It is absolutely free. You will receive your score within a week of writing your test.

What is the cost of the program?

Registration Fee:	$ 30.00
Course Fee:	$450.00
Text + CD-ROM (optional)	$ 65.00
Other course materials:	Free

ESSAY WRITING...

For the TOEFL exam, students may be asked to write an essay. Here, some basic information regarding essay writing:

1. Remember that an essay is multi-paragraphed writing. An essay has three main parts: an Introduction, a Body and a Conclusion.
2. The Introduction sets up the paper and concludes with a very clear, specific thesis statement. A strong Introduction will set the tone for the rest of the paper. A good thesis should identify the main sections/ideas in the paper; it acts as a sort of "mini-outline".
3. The Body should have a number of paragraphs covering the main points. Remember that a paragraph has the same basic construction as an essay: an Introduction (topic sentence that tells the reader what you will be discussing in that paragraph), a Body, and a Conclusion.

It is very rare for a paragraph to have fewer than five or six sentences. This is where you will include your examples, arguments, objections, etc.

4. The Conclusion should not be cut short, either in terms of length or content. This is what the reader will read last and, statistics show, what the reader will remember most. Therefore, you will want to finish with a strong paragraph.
